1. One recent passport-sized photograph.
2. An official copy (not a photocopy) of the graduation certificate for all higher education qualification you have completed (in English). If you are shortlisted for the interview process, these reference letters will be used when applying to HEIs in Ireland.

▪ How many universities may I apply to as part of the IPSP scholarship?

In your IPSP application and using the Ireland Fellows Programme Directory of Eligible Programmes , you are asked to list details of the three master's programmes you would like to pursue in Ireland, ranked in order of choice (1, 2, 3). To maximise your chances of receiving a course place offer should you be selected to go forward as a Candidate, it is strongly recommended that the three programmes are in three different Higher Education Institutions (HEIs), where available.

You should ensure that you hold the specified qualifications and academic grades required for the academic courses you intend applying for. These can be found in the Ireland-Palestine Scholarship Programme Directory of Eligible Postgraduate Courses and on the relevant college website. It is your responsibility to ensure that your academic qualifications are of sufficient standard for your chosen course.

- Do I need to secure admission from the higher education institutions in Ireland in order to be able to apply to the IPSP scholarship?

No. Applicants are advised NOT to apply for any courses in Ireland until after they have been shortlisted for a fellowship award following interview. The shortlisted applicants will be contacted by Irish Council for International Students (ICOS) with information on applying for their chosen courses.

- Is there a list of higher education institutions in Ireland that IPSP applicants should only consider?

Yes. There are 25 participating higher education institutions in Ireland for the IPSP program. You can find the full list of those institutions and the courses they offer under the Directory of Courses.

Applicants must be able to take up the scholarship in the academic year 2022/2023.

- If I can't get an official or original copy of the degree certificate or academic transcript, can I submit certified copies?

If you can't submit an original transcript or diploma certificate issued by the higher education institution, then you can submit copies certified by the Palestinian Ministry of Education. Any certified document (degree certificate or academic transcript) must be original stamped and signed documents certified by the Palestinian Ministry of Education and should include the grading schedule. Photocopies of certified documents will not be accepted. Each page of the documents should be certified. All documents should be single-sided, but if there is a double-sided document, each side of the page should be certified with a stamp.

- If I can't provide an official or original document (degree certificate, academic transcript, letter of reference, or English language proficiency score report) by the application deadline, can I submit a photocopy with the understanding that the original or official copy will be submitted later?

Yes. If you are unable to submit an official or original document by the application deadline, we will accept a photocopy with the understanding that the original or official copy will be submitted no later than January 10, 2022 in case you are shortlisted following the interviews.

- Should all documents (degree certificate or academic transcript) be in English? If an English official copy is not available, what is the alternative?

Yes, they should be in English. If an applicant can't provide a document in English, they need to submit a copy certified (original stamped and signed) by the Palestinian Ministry of Education, and to also provide a certified English translation of it by a licensed translator.

- How many official or original copies of the degree certificate and academic transcript do I need to submit with my IPSP application?

You only need to submit one copy of the degree certificate and academic transcript with your IPSP application. However, if you are shortlisted after the interviews, you should be prepared to submit two other official or original copies of those documents.

- If I went on an academic exchange program during my undergraduate studies, do I need to submit transcript for the courses I studied abroad?

Transcripts must cover every subject or module of undergraduate studies for which you received credits. Accordingly, if the transcript of the original university from which you graduated does not specify the actual results for subjects studied at another institution, then you must provide a transcript from the other institution detailing your results in those courses.

- Do you accept photocopies or scanned copies of the reference letters?

No. Academic reference letters should be original hand-signed documents. E-signatures will not be accepted.

The letter should be in English, on headed paper, and should include the full contact details and the title and position of the referee. Photocopies of letters where the signature is photocopied will not be accepted.

- Do you accept professional letters of reference rather than academic?

No. You are required to submit two academic letters on official letterhead with original signatures. These references must be from academics who have taught you personally. These references should indicate both why you are a suitable candidate for the IPSP scholarship and why the programmes you have chosen are relevant to you. If you are shortlisted for the interview process, these reference letters will be used when applying to HEIs in Ireland.

- Do I need to submit a score report with my IPSP application in order to prove my English language proficiency? If so, what is the minimum requirement?

Yes, in order to be eligible and for your application to be complete, you must submit with your IPSP application an original English language proficiency (IELTS or ITP or iBT or Duolingo) score report (dated September 2020 or later) with a minimum score of 6.5 on IELTS, or 550 on Institutional Testing Program (ITP), or 80 on Internet-based TOEFL (iBT). Yes, if you are shortlisted after the interviews, and the English language proficiency certificate you submitted with your IPSP application was not IELTS, then you will need to sit for an IELTS test and achieve a minimum score of 6.5 (because even if you fulfilled the IPSP scholarship requirement, you still need to fulfil the study requirements of higher education institutions in Ireland which require an IELTS certificate - www.ielts.org - with a minimum overall score of 6.5). However, the test will be arranged and covered by the Representative Office of Ireland in Palestine, and it will be administered in January/February 2022.

- If I submitted a valid IELTS certification of 6.5 or higher with my IPSP application, do I have to take the IELTS exam which the IPSP will arrange for shortlisted candidates?

No. If you are shortlisted after the interviews, and you already hold a valid IELTS score of 6.5 or higher, then you will be given the choice to retake the IELTS test or not. In that case, if you feel that you can achieve a better score on the IELTS test, we do encourage you to retake it since it will increase your chances of admission to your selected courses by the higher education institutions in Ireland. The test will be arranged and covered by the Representative Office of Ireland in Palestine, and it will be administered in January/February 2022.

- If I studied for my undergraduate degree in an English-speaking country, for example, USA or UK, should I still submit an English proficiency score report (IELTS, iBT, ITP, or Duolingo) with my IPSP application?
